Emilia Berry, the founder of NYC and Hamptons based PermaLine Cosmetics

Do you ever wonder how celebrities or even those girls in front of you in line for coffee always look so perfect, so together? Well, the secret is out! Countless women (and even men) have turned to permanent makeup to help them achieve the "always perfect look" of their dreams. And one of the visionaries of permanent makeup making her mark on the beauty world is Emilia Berry, the founder of NYC and Hamptons based PermaLine Cosmetics.

"Our main priority is to impart a naturally beautiful look to our clients that empower them to feel their best by looking their best. Many of the most well-known and beautiful celebrities even here in the US already rely on micropigmentation, and there is no reason why it should remain their secret," explains Emilia.

"The perfect eyebrow, eyelash enhancement, or lip rejuvenation (even enlargement) is possible with micropigmentation," states Emilia. "It requires a very careful, artistic eye and understanding of color and shading. Since every client is different, each case is different and truly a work of art."

Emilia's passion for the field of permanent makeup combined with her uncompromising commitment to customer service has enabled clients from all over the world to get the results they love.
